Chamizal National Memorial to Host Siglo de Oro Drama Festival Workshop for Teachers on February 7th

Superintendent F. Gus Sanchez announces that spaces are still available to teachers in the El Paso-Las Cruces area who would like to participate in this year's workshop in preparation for the 40th annual Siglo de Oro Drama Festival which will run from March 18 to March 22, 2015, at Chamizal National Memorial. The workshop is open to all educators, and teachers of Drama, Spanish, Literature and History may especially benefit from the opportunity. This year's workshop will provide teachers with materials and activities to enrich their students' understanding and enjoyment of the plays presented in the Siglo de Oro Drama Festival. Additionally, workshop attendees receive preference for participation in festival outreach performances in their school and the Chamizal theater and first priority for student tickets to the main festival performances.

The workshop will be held in the Chamizal National Memorial Cultural Center from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Saturday, February 7, 2015. The number of participants is limited, so anyone interested should sign up as early as possible and no later than Wednesday, February 4, 2015. To find out more information and to secure your seat, contact Education Specialist Kathy Denton at 915-532-7273 x130 or kathy_denton@nps.gov.
